1. The mom of a child diagnosed with hydrocephalus, accepted Jesus Christ earlier this year. She said her husband would not allow her to go to church plus there is no church in the village where she lives. Though the child died on admission at KATH Teaching Hospital, we are still in touch with her.
2. A young person with the diagnosis of myofascial deformity (large right mandibular mass) was witnessed to. According to her, she was already a Christian but stopped because of many cultural reasons. We encouraged her to return to the church which she did.
3. The mom of a 9-month-old with the diagnosis of pelvic-ureteric junction (PUJ) obstruction, cystic hygroma, and Down's syndrome, was witnessed to on our trip to Korle Bu Teaching Hospital in Accra for a test, and she became a Christian. She has been attending church and working to bring her husband to church.
4. The mother of a child diagnosed with hydrocephalus, was witnessed to and received Jesus Christ as her Savior. According to her, she would have wished to go to church, but she has to discuss that with her husband.
5. A young girl with Hirschsprung's disease was witnessed to but said she couldn't go to church. Even though she is from a different religion, she believed in Jesus. She had thought we were all serving the same God. If she openly became a Christian she would be heavily persecuted by her religious community, though, in her heart, she is a Christian.
